OWENS COMMUNITY COLLEGE

FAI
FEDERAL AEROSPACE INSTITUTE

We're proud to announce that FAI and Owens Community College have partnered to offer students an Associates of Technical Studies in Aviation Maintenance Technology.

FAI is now offering students an opportunity to obtain their Associate of Technical Studies degree.

Through our newly formed partnership, FAI and Owens have collaborated to provide a seamless and coherent educational pathway for students who wish to pursue training as an Airframe & Powerplant Technician from FAI and an Associate of Technical Studies degree from Owens.

This new program aims to provide FAI students with a clear roadmap for completing their educational goals by enabling them to transition smoothly from FAI to Owens. The program allows FAI to offer students a cost-effective and convenient pathway to earn a two-year degree. FAI will also help to strengthen the educational partnership between the two institutions to support the aerospace industry and local area.

Contact Sam Beale or Marion Rapp at FAI, or Admissions at Owens for specific information.
